Kuukup

Coming soon

FOR HOME CHEFS, COOKS & CATERERS

Your cooking, ordered and booked by people near you.

Kuukup is a new platform that connects home chefs with people who want real, home-cooked food. Customers will be able to order your meals, or book you to cook at their events, parties and homes. We're inviting chefs to join before we launch.

THREE WAYS TO COOK WITH KUUKUP

Meal orders

Customers browse chefs near them and order your dishes, from everyday plates to your specials.

Events & parties

Get booked to cook for birthdays, naming ceremonies, office lunches and family gatherings.

In-home cooking

Be the private chef: cook in someone's home for a dinner, a celebration or the week ahead.

WHY JOIN EARLY

Be among the first chefs on Kuukup.

- Reach new customers beyond your WhatsApp contacts and followers.
- Get booked for events as well as everyday meal orders.
- Show off your cooking with your own chef profile and dishes.
- Free to register interest with no commitment. Keep your current customers.

HOW IT WILL WORK FOR CUSTOMERS

1. Find a chef
   Browse home chefs near them and see what they cook.
2. Order or book
   Order a meal, or request a chef for an event or at home.
3. The chef cooks
   Fresh, home-cooked food, made by you.

Register your interest in 5 minutes

A student from Gigotter will ask you a few questions about your cooking. With your permission, the Kuukup team will contact you before launch to invite you to join.

Kuukup

Student field guide

STUDENT FIELD GUIDE · PART ONE

Finding chefs for Kuukup

Read this before your first conversation. Show chefs page 1; pages 2 and 3 are for you.

Who to look for

- Home cooks who sell meals from their kitchen.
- Online food sellers taking orders on WhatsApp, Instagram or TikTok.
- Small caterers who cook for parties, churches and offices.
- Private chefs who cook in people's homes.

Not restaurant chains or fast-food franchises. They must cook and sell food themselves.

Where to find them

- WhatsApp statuses and food groups you're already in.
- Instagram & TikTok food pages in your area.
- Campus and office food sellers and lunch vendors.
- Event caterers recommended by churches, friends and family.
- Ask every chef if they know another one.

Your 2-minute introduction

> "Hi, I'm [your name], a student working with Gigotter. I'm talking to home chefs about Kuukup, a new platform launching soon. People will be able to order meals from chefs near them, or book a chef to cook at a party, an event or in their home. They're inviting chefs to join before launch. It's free to register your interest and there's no commitment. Can I ask you a few quick questions about your cooking? It takes about five minutes."

Ask for consent

> "Are you happy for me to share these details with the Kuukup team, so they can contact you about joining?"

Only continue if they say yes, and record their answer in the last question. Ask before taking any photo of them or their food.

STUDENT FIELD GUIDE · PART TWO

Answering questions

Chefs will have questions. Keep answers honest and simple, and never promise what Kuukup hasn't confirmed.

Questions chefs may ask

Is it free?
Registering interest is free and has no commitment. The Kuukup team will explain how joining works before launch.

When does it launch?
Soon. They're building the list of chefs first, and will contact you before it goes live.

Do I need a restaurant or shop?
No. Kuukup is built for people who cook from home, cater or work as private chefs.

What happens to my details?
They go only to the Kuukup team, so they can contact you about joining. Nothing is shared publicly.

Do I need a certificate?
Not to register interest. Kuukup will share any requirements before launch.

Can I keep my WhatsApp customers?
Yes. Kuukup is a way to reach more people, not a replacement for your customers.

Don't know the answer? Say so honestly and the Kuukup team will follow up.

DO

- ✓ Fill in the survey with the chef, there and then
- ✓ Double-check their phone number
- ✓ Write their dishes in their own words
- ✓ Thank them, even if they say no

DON'T

- ✗ Pressure anyone to sign up
- ✗ Make up or guess any answers
- ✗ Submit the same chef twice
- ✗ Promise money, orders or dates

Before you submit

- ✓ Name and phone checked with the chef, digit by digit.
- ✓ All three ways answered: meal orders, events, in-home.
- ✓ Photo, if shared of their food or their food page.
- ✓ Dishes and cuisines in their own words, not "local food".
- ✓ Consent recorded as "Yes" in the last question.
- ✓ A quick thank-you and let them know Kuukup will be in touch.

Quality beats quantity

Every entry is checked and chefs may be called. Ten genuine, complete chefs are worth far more than thirty rushed ones, and only genuine entries are paid.